DON PARKER EASILY WINS FROM M'CORD

Advertising League Championship at Pinehurst Ends 6 Up and 5 to Play.

CLUB 50 YEARS OLD USED AFTER UNGER'S TITLE

Special Despatch to The Sun. PINEHURST, Jan. 10.—Don Parker of the Garden City Golf Club won the championship of the Winter Golf League of Advertising Interests today, defeating W. M. M'Cord of the Rye Country Club by 6 up and 5 to play in the thirty-six hole final contest played on the No. 2 course.

The match was a one sided affair from the start, the Garden City golfer standing 11 up at one stage. A curious old rule played quite a role in today's match. This was a much repeated and battered mangle turned out by one Sandy MacGregor of Dayton, Ohio, fifty years ago, and lent to Parker today by its owner, J. D. Montgomery of Toronto, who says it is the most ancient American golf club extant. He this as it may, Parker handled it as though he had played with it every day. A hole was made and achieved seven rather remarkable approaches and pitches with the club in the course of the two rounds.

The final match was the third of the first division went to the Garden City golfer by a decision, E. A. Taylor of Dunwoody defeating D. H. Stewart of the same club. Taylor had a stroke advantage in the match. Ninety-seven men and women golfers took part in the handicap match played at Pinehurst today for the benefit of the Red Cross and for fifteen prizes donated by the Winter Golf League of Advertising Interests.

The first prize for the best gross score was won by George A. Dix, Jr. of the National Links, with a 79 on No. 2 course. Mrs. John D. Chapman of Greenwich won the prize for the best gross in the women's section with a 48 for 9 holes on No. 2 course.
